

Office use only:
COPS Event number

NSW Domestic Violence Disclosure Scheme

Undertaking form

Support persons

Information disclosed under the Domestic Violence Disclosure Scheme aims to assist people who may be at risk to make informed decisions about their safety and to provide them with support where there are concerns about their relationship with the subject*.

The information disclosed under the Scheme is confidential and you should only use the information disclosed for the purpose of:

- Accessing domestic violence support services
- Safety planning

Note: Service providers must comply with NSW privacy laws and information management principles in the NSW Domestic Violence Information Sharing Protocol when disclosing information to make a referral for a person at risk.

YOU MUST NOT PUBLISH, SPREAD OR MISUSE THE INFORMATION PROVIDED TO YOU.

I, [print name]

from [print company name if applicable]

from [print address]

undertake not to publish or spread information disclosed to me under the NSW Domestic Violence Disclosure Scheme, including on social media or through other public networks.

Signature

Date

*The 'subject' is the person who is, or was in an intimate relationship with the person at risk.